

Company Profile

Your Vision, Our Engineering.

Charter Global is a digital engineering company specializing in AI/ML and end-to-end cloud technologies. Our innovation center, i3Labs, leverages Generative AI to accelerate mobile and custom application development across multiple platforms.

By partnering with us, Fortune 1000 clients—including NCR, Allconnect, ADP, LexisNexis, and AT&T—enhance their operational efficiency through faster ramp-up times, scalable resources, and shorter implementation timelines.

Digital Strategy and Advisory

We provide a comprehensive data strategy and cloud advisory services that align your technology roadmap with your business goals. Our cloud consulting services include cloud vision, cloud value assessment, cloud roadmap and transformation plans.

Our process starts with a detailed assessment of your application and infrastructure landscape to evaluate cloud readiness, maturity and strategic fit. Based on these insights, we design a customized cloud adoption plan that reflects your operating environment, team capabilities and future needs, ensuring a seamless transition and long-term return on technology investment.

Through the provision of ongoing advisory support, we help you optimize performance, manage costs and scale confidently as your business grows.

Digital Engineering & Transformation

Our digital-first approach helps mid-sized businesses and enterprises align technology with strategy. Through a co-engineering delivery model, we blend deep technical expertise with agile collaboration to tailor scalable solutions that fuel sustainable growth.

By embedding Generative AI throughout the software development lifecycle, we accelerate delivery and reduce risk.

With proven strengths in DevOps, cloud infrastructure, and security compliance, we expertly modernize legacy systems and integrate complex enterprise environments.

Data Modernization & Agentic Automation

We focus on data quality, AI-driven analytics, and scalable architecture to enable intelligent operations. Our solutions streamline processes, reduce inefficiencies, and drive transformation from the ground up. Built for compliance and security, our autonomous AI agents are tailored to support sustainable and secure growth across your organization.
